

Promoting Student-Athlete Wellness
and Substance Misuse Prevention

An Update on APPLE 2020-2021

We regret to inform you that the association-wide 2020-21 APPLE Training Institute events scheduled for October 9-11, 2020, in Orlando, Florida and January 22-23, 2021 in the Washington, DC area have been cancelled due to the uncertainty around the timing of return to campus activities as well as other financial and resource impacts of COVID-19 on NCAA and institutional operations.

This decision was made in collaboration with the NCAA Sport Science Institute and the University of Virginia Gordie Center, which operates the APPLE Training Institute.

How can the APPLE staff assist you?

Please complete this 3 minute survey to help us create online education programs to support you and your student-athletes. Despite the cancellation of the 2020-21 APPLE Training Institutes, we're still here for you!

Take Survey

Thank you for your understanding of this decision. The NCAA and the Gordie Center remain committed to the importance of providing effective intervention programming and we look forward to providing future engagement opportunities to support student-athlete substance misuse prevention.

Susie Bruce, Director
Holly Deering, Associate Director

APPLE Training Institute
Gordie Center @ the University of Virginia

Email Us Visit Our Website

